DEFRAUDED

THE BANK.

First National of Nashville Caught for $56,000.

Bookkeeper Lea and J. P. Brady, a Wholesale Merchant, Implicated—Lea's Whereabouts Unknown.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Nov. 12.—A sensation was caused here this afternoon when J. P. Brady, of the wholesale grocery and liquor firm of Connor & Brady, conducting an extensive business on Broad street, was arrested by United States Marshal Overhill on a warrant sworn out by Cassius E. O. Watter, of the First National Bank of this city, charging Brady with collusion with W. W. Lea, formerly individual bookkeeper of the bank, in defrauding the institution to the extent of $56,000. Shortly after the arrest came the announcement that Lea, who appears to be deeply involved, had left for parts unknown, and that detectives are now making an effort to locate him. Owing to the fact that both men stood high in commercial circles and were well connected, the defalcation has caused a great deal of excitement.

Late this afternoon Brady was arraigned before United States Commissioner Farrel and his preliminary trial set for Friday. The merchant appealed to several old friends to go on his bond, but they refused to sign as security to a $20,000 paper. Finally a relative, T. J. Mooney, came to his rescue, and as Brady was about to go to jail he gave bond in the sum of $10,000 for his appearance.

The speculations have been carried on for a period extending from May 1, 1898, until July 15, 1900, when Bookkeeper Lea went off on his regular two weeks' vacation. The fall ure of Lea to return at the expiration of two weeks caused a little comment among the bank officials, as he had been for twenty-two years one of the most trusted employees.

Finally, at the end of three weeks, no tidings having been received by the bank or the family of Lea as to his whereabouts, an investigation was instituted by the bank into the affairs of the missing accountant. It was discovered that the accounts of Connor Brady were crooked and indicated that the bookkeeper, unknown to the bank officials, had carried a large overdraft in favor of this firm.

After probing the matter to the bottom an expert found that false entries aggregating $56,000 had been made by the bookkeeper as to this account by increasing the amount of deposits on the journals and by decreasing the amount of the checks drawn on the bank, following this with a false extension of balances. According to the books, it appears that upon one day the bookkeeper would make an entry defrauding the bank of a certain sum and later make such alterations as to make the amount of money obtainable.

As Lea had just charge of the account of this firm, he could change figures at will. In this manner it appears that the two men drew out of the bank $56,000 in cash, but through their system of entries, had paid back through the grocery firm's account the sum of $12,000, leaving a net shortage of $44,000.

Brady Makes a Confession.

It is figured according to Brady's statement, that he got away with something like $17,000, which he spent in speculation. After the disappearance of Lea it was given out that his accounts were all right, and it was at that time thought he had gone to New York with a certain woman, but she turned up later, allaying this suspicion.

Lea has a wife and five children, while Brady also has a large family. To-night J. H. Connor, of the firm of Brady & Connor, said he knew nothing whatever of the speculation of his partner. Brady confesses to his guilt, and it is said to night he will submit his case and ask mercy of the court. The penalty is from five to ten years.

Crops in Giles.

LYNNVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 12.—The second crop of Irish potatoes is now being put on the market. While the yield is small the potatoes are of good quality and are bringing 60 cents per bushel. Complaints are heard from farmers in various sections that the early wheat is badly damaged by the Hessian fly. In some localities the flies are being plowed up and resown or planted in other crops.

Consumption

is destruction of lung by a growing germ, precisely as mouldy cheese is destruction of cheese by a growing germ.

If you kill the germ, you stop the consumption. You can or can't, according to when you begin.

Take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil: take a little at first.

It acts as a food; it is the easiest food. Seems not to be food; makes you hungry; eating is comfortable. You grow stronger. Take more; not too much; enough is as much as you like and agrees with you. Satisfy hunger with usual food; whatever you like and agrees with you.

When you are strong again, have recovered your strength—the germs are dead; you have killed them.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you.

FUTURE OF DEMOCRACY.

Carmack Gives His Opinion on Dickinson's Plan.

In an interview in Memphis, Congressman E. W. Carmack said: "The Democratic party must stand for the principles of the republic against imperialism and militarism, for democracy against plutocracy, for competition against monopoly, for the rights of the people against the insolent aggressions of concentrated wealth."

"It must resist to the last the effort to barter the pure principles of our government for the plunder of distant provinces. It must be the great conservative force of the country the foe alike to socialism and plutocracy. The party which stands for these things will surely grow and strengthen if the republic is to endure; and if free government is to prevail on this continent, there is no reason why the Democratic party should survive."

"There is no reason why the Democrats should despair. The Republican party was a greater wreck after the election of 1892, yet it took possession of the Government four years later. I believe there is as much vitality in the love of liberty as there is in the lust for power."

"Mr. Carmack was shown the reported statement from Don M. Dickinson to the effect that a meeting would soon be held in New York for the purpose of reorganizing the Democratic party. Referring to this he said:

"Any movement for the reorganization of the Democratic party that would include Don M. Dickinson as a Democrat would be very amusing to every other Democrat in the United States. He has for a number of years past been an open and avowed Republican, and the fact that he has found himself persona non grata in the Republican party is not sufficient to commend him to honest Democrats. If he should get back into the Democratic party he would not hesitate at any time to set it on fire for breakfast."

"Some years ago a meeting was called in the city of Washington for the purpose of breaking up and reorganizing the Democratic party. Old Allen G. Thurman was invited to the meeting. He heard all that was said, then looking around the little room, he said that he did not believe the Democratic party could be destroyed in so small a room. Don Dickinson and fellows of his kind will get a similar answer to their scheme."

"It is earnestly to be hoped that all Democrats who oppose the conspiracy to revolutionize this republic will find some way of getting together, but it is just as earnestly to be hoped that creatures of the Dickinson stripe will stay where they belong."

Prospective Pie for Brock.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Nov. 11.—It is given out here on what is deemed reliable authority that Hon. Lee Brock, present Assistant District Attorney, will be an applicant for District Attorney, and that he stands a fair chance of getting the plum. A. M. Tillman is the present District Attorney. Brock is a strong Evans man, but did most of the work of managing the State campaign for his party.

The Woman and the Editor.

The Baltimore American gives this: She wept. "Oh, you editors are horrid!" she sobbed. "What is the trouble, madam?" inquired the editor. "Why, I—baw—baw—I sent in an obituary of my husband, and—baw—baw—and said in it that he had been married for twenty years, and you—baw—baw—baw—you printed it as 'he was married for twenty years.'"

She wept. But the editor grinned. Perhaps it was all right. Who knows?

"OUR BOB'S" VIEWS.

He Has a Word or Two to Say on Democracy's Future.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 10.—Ex-Gov. Taylor, in an interview to-day, said:

"I came all the way from the West to cast my vote for the fearless leader and advocate of the people's rights, Mr. Bryan. As a Democrat I did my part for the Democratic ticket. The American people have spoken and say that the present Administration shall continue, and I will stand by it with the loyalty of any Democrat and citizen who stands by the Government whether or not his party is in power."

"But speaking of reorganization, none is needed. The Democratic party is to-day the party of the people; the party founded by Jefferson and maintained by Jackson and other Democrats whose names are imperishable. What the Democrats of the country should do is to wait; wait until election talk has practically died out. Then the men who should take of reorganization, if such should then be found necessary, are the men who have stood by the party in the hour of peril and have fought its battles where the fight was the thickest. I see men who left the party four years ago are talking about reorganization. Over 7,000,000 people have said that the Democratic party pleases them. Few said it did not. The majority will not surrender to the minority. It should be left to true Democrats who have made these two great fights to shape the policy of the party, no matter what is done with free silver or the Philippine question."

"You can put me down for good, old-fashioned Democracy as handed down to us and as being in line with what the party wants."
